Removal of extra import duty on US apples: how it can impact Indian growers

China was a major exporter to India till 2017-18. However, concerns over the quality and quantity of US apples led to the imposition of an import duty on US apples in 2018. This duty was later increased to 50% in 2019. The imposition of this duty had a significant impact on the apple market in India, leading to a decrease in the import of US apples.

The Indian government imposed an extra import duty on US apples in 2019, which was later increased to 50% in 2019. This duty was imposed to protect the domestic apple industry from the competition of US apples. The imposition of this duty had a significant impact on the apple market in India, leading to a decrease in the import of US apples.

The importance of this duty was highlighted in the context of the US-China trade war, where the US imposed tariffs on Chinese products. This led to a decrease in the import of Chinese products, which in turn led to a decrease in the import of US apples.

The imposition of this duty had a significant impact on the apple market in India, leading to a decrease in the import of US apples. The government imposed an extra import duty on US apples in 2019, which was later increased to 50% in 2019. This duty was imposed to protect the domestic apple industry from the competition of US apples. The imposition of this duty had a significant impact on the apple market in India, leading to a decrease in the import of US apples.